SMART TD names new DLC coordinator, Young retires

Designated Legal Counsel (DLC) Anthony Petru has been chosen as coordinator of the DLC Program. Petru replaces long-time DLC member and Coordinator Steve Young, who retired earlier this autumn.

Petru is a long-time DLC with years of experience in the rail industry. He graduated from University of California, Berkeley, and attended law school at the University of San Francisco. He joined the law firm of Hildebrand, McLeod & Nelson in 1980.

Petru is a member of the American Trial Lawyers Association and the Academy of Rail Labor Attorneys.

“We appreciate Anthony’s willingness to serve as coordinator and look forward to working with him in his new position,” said Transportation Division President John Previsich.

Meanwhile, Previsich lauded Young’s service to our membership. “Steve’s contribution to the DLC program and serving as coordinator cannot be overstated, nor can his many other contributions to the union overall.

“Steve has been of great service to this union for over 40 years, beginning with holding office at the local and general committee level through his continued affiliation during his professional career. His contribution to the education and training of our members through his presentations at our regional meetings is legendary. Steve’s presence and leadership will be missed.”

Members can reach Petru by calling (800) 447-7500, visiting his website www.hmn-law.com or by visiting our Designated Legal Counsel pages at utu.org.

New incentive program for Great Lakes Airline pilots

Following discussions with Transportation Division representatives of the Sheet Metal, Air, Rail and Transportation Workers union (SMART TD), Great Lakes Airlines has agreed to implement a Captain Incentive Plan (CIP) - an annual calendar year program that pays a cash incentive to eligible pilots each calendar quarter.

Intended to retain existing captain qualified pilots and provide an incentive for first officers (FO) to upgrade to the position of captain, the CIP proposal was codified as a letter of agreement under the Railway Labor Act to be effective Nov. 4, 2015.

With the assistance of SMART TD Vice President Jeremy Ferguson, Senior Pilot John Nolan and Local 40 President Dave McLaughry were instrumental in ensuring the CIP agreement would meet the approval of the pilot group.

“This is a win-win situation for both the airline and the pilots, as it will surely help keep qualified pilots at a time when the airline needs them most. It will be another nice wage increase following the contract ratification last year that resulted in significant pay raises,” said Ferguson. “The agreement also ensured pilots who meet the criteria are eligible to receive a bonus this quarter ending Dec. 31, 2015, so our captains should see the results of our negotiations in the very near future.”

The following pilots are eligible to participate in the plan and are termed “CIP Eligible”:

- Currently qualified BE-19000 and EMB-120 captains. Pilots who successfully pass the BE-19000 or EMB-120 captain check ride.
- EMB-120 FO’s who have passed a captain’s pre-test, but who have not upgraded to

FMCSA rule to decrease fatigue, increase roadway safety

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) announced the adoption of a Final Rule that will improve roadway safety by employing technology to strengthen commercial truck and bus drivers’ compliance with hours-of-service regulations that prevent fatigue.

“Since 1938, complex, on-duty/off-duty logs for truck and bus drivers were made with pencil and paper, virtually impossible to verify,” said U.S. Transportation Secretary Anthony Foxx.

“This automated technology not only brings logging records into the modern age, it also allows roadside safety inspectors to unmask violations of federal law that put lives at risk.”

The Final Rule requiring the use of electronic logging devices (ELD) will result in an annual net benefit of more than $1 billion — largely by reducing the amount of required industry paperwork. It will also increase the efficiency of roadside law enforcement personnel in reviewing driver records.

Strict protections are included that will protect commercial drivers from harassment.

It has been estimated that the ELD Final Rule could save 26 lives and prevent 562 injuries resulting from crashes involving large commercial motor vehicles—per year.

Four main elements of ELD Final Rule

- Requiring commercial truck and bus drivers who currently use paper log books to maintain hours-of-service records to adopt ELDs within two years. It is anticipated that approximately three million drivers will be impacted.

Changes made to SMART Discipline Income Plan

As a result of the continued increase in claims volume and associated costs, the Discipline Income Protection Program is increasing its monthly assessments from 71 cents to 81 cents per $1 of daily benefits effective January 1, 2016.

You may elect to reduce your benefit level or cancel your coverage at any time by submitting the appropriate form to SMART Transportation Division. If you opt not to change your current benefit level, your current benefit level will remain in place, and, if you pay monthly assessments by payroll deduction, the higher monthly assessments will automatically be deducted from your paycheck.

NMB certifies SMART to represent CMQR

In a letter dated Dec. 5, 2015, the National Mediation Board (NMB) certified the SMART Transportation Division as the official union of the employees of the Central Maine & Quebec Railway (CMQR).

SMART TD invoked the services of NMB Aug. 12, 2015, to investigate and determine who may represent the train and engine service employees of CMQR. These employees were previously unrepresented by a union.

NMB Investigator Cristina Bonaca held an election. Out of the total 11 eligible employees, 10 voted for SMART TD representation, while one employee opted not to vote. Due to these results, Bonaca certified that SMART is the designated labor union and is authorized to represent CMQR train and engine service employees.

“Every department on this railroad that voted for representation: the carmen, maintenance of way, machinists, conductors and engineers, bravely stood together and have chosen SMART TD as their representative. They believe that there is strength in numbers,” said SMART TD Organizer Larry Grutzius. “I was glad to be a part of their effort and to see how strongly these new members feel about taking the steps to gain fair compensation for their labor.”

“I’d like to thank Larry Grutzius for all the time and effort he put into winning this campaign,” Director of Organizing Rich Ross said. “We are looking forward to working with our brothers and sisters on CMQR to help improve working conditions and their quality of life on the railroad.”

RRB releases 2016 tax rates

Tier 1 Medicare and Tier 1 Railroad Retirement tax rates are equivalent to Social Security tax rates for 2016. Tier 2 Railroad Retirement tax rates do not apply to members subject to Social Security.

FTA launches transit-oriented initiative

The U.S. Department of Transportation’s Federal Transit Administration (FTA) has launched a nationwide transit-oriented development (TOD) initiative to encourage development near transit systems that boosts the economy, provides easy access to jobs and services; and creates compact, mixed-use, walkable communities.

The initiative supports the Leaders of Opportunity Initiative of President Obama and the Secretary of Transportation—

“Our TOD initiative will help community leaders think about how investment in transit can bring prosperity into low- and moderate-income communities,” said U.S. Transportation Secretary Anthony Foxx.

“TOD is not just about putting rail in transit; it’s about connecting development near transit with new housing stock, new jobs and new economic opportunities in areas that badly need them.

In short, results, we are offering to help local leaders create sound, equitable community-sensitive development plans.”

The National Public Transportation Transit-Oriented Development Technical Assistance Initiative focuses on supporting communities across the country. FTA has engaged Smart Growth America (SGA) to run the technical assistance and provide a variety of planning and analysis tools.

Along with developing best practices and profiles of communities that have successfully implemented TOD, SGA will work on site with leaders in several communities to offer in-depth technical assistance tailored to local needs.

The free technical assistance, which will be offered through a competitive process, will include planning for and managing economic development near transit through effective zoning and land use as well as expert advice on preserving affordable housing and securing advantageous commercial development, among other challenges.

“Transit-oriented development is critical to both the success of new transit projects and to the economy of the local communities they serve,” FTA Chief Administrator Therese McMillan.

“What’s particularly great about TOD is that it encourages people to use public transit, reduces trips to work, improves training opportunities, on-demand research and analysis, and peer-to-peer meetings and mentoring on topics of shared concern.

On December 16, 2015, members of SMART Transportation Division’s Local 1440 (Staten Island, N.Y.) ratified a tentative agreement with the New York Metropolitan Transportation Authority (N.Y. MTA).

The ratified agreement includes a 15.88 percent across-the-board increase with retroactive pay; improved sick leave; personal leave and holiday pay; and improved medical, dental and vision coverage.

“We thank the International for their continued support as we protect our members’ right day in and day out for the best collective bargaining agreement possible,” said General Chairperson (GCA-Staten Island Railroad) Thomas Wilson.

Wilson led negotiations with the assistance of Legal Counsel David Davis; General Committee Secretary Carlos Sanchez; Vice Local Chairpersons Mike Hayes, Joel Rivera and Richard Moore; Local Secretary and Treasurer Vincent LaBella and former General Committee Secretary Joseph Palmieri.

“We express our gratitude to the members of Local 1440 and the negotiating team for their collaborative work and support on behalf of our N.Y. brothers and sisters to secure the best collective bargaining agreement possible,” SMART Transportation Division President John Previsich said.
As we look ahead to a new year, we remember our history

As we reflect on 2015 and the year ahead, let us remember our Brothers and Sisters who came before us: all of those who stood united in the face of danger and against all odds—all of those who stood unified for the greater good.

It was their sacrifice, solidarity and resolve that brought justice to the workplace and security for working families—it was their struggles and victories that continue to be the foundation and hope of our country.

"It was working men and women who made the 20th century the American century. It was the labor movement that helped secure so much of what we take for granted today. The 40-hour work week, the minimum wage, family leave, health insurance, Social Security, Medicare, retirement plans. The cornerstones of middle-class security all bear the union label." —President Barack Obama

President Obama’s words remind us of the battles hard fought and sacrifices long endured by those who struggled in the early days of the labor movement.

Prior to their efforts there were no such things as “benefits,” restrictions on child labor, paid time off, vacations, holiday pay, guaranteed income, overtime and the list goes on.

The unions fought hard to obtain for their members the pay, working conditions and respect that the working class deserved. By working hard and sacrificing much, including the lives of some who paid the ultimate price, our forebears in the union movement helped to create a standard of living and a middle class unlike any that the world had ever seen.

Their success led to decades of prosperity for not only union members but also for workers in every environment. Non-union employees were forced to raise wages and adopt improved benefits in order to compete for workers.

Laws and regulations were established at both the state and federal level to extend improved conditions to all workers, not just those with a union contract. Safety rules were enacted where none had been before.

That prosperity stayed with America for decades. A good union job often meant that a member could buy a home, raise a family and send the kids to college.

They could take a vacation and pay for a new car every year and again, all while setting money aside for a secure retirement. Manufacturers made products that people wanted and paid their employees enough to purchase the goods that they made.

Regrettably, it often appears that today’s society is moving in a different direction. As industry after industry moves manufacturing offshore, as more and more companies look for new ways to manipulate the system to deny their employees the right to join a union, fewer and fewer workers share in the pride and security that comes from being part of a professional unionized workforce.

Members of SMART know better—they know that they belong to a union that has a successful history with roots reaching back over 150 years, and they know that their union’s ongoing efforts have made today’s SMART members some of the most highly skilled and best-paid workers in America.

“As industry after industry moves manufacturing offshore, as more and more companies learn to manipulate the system to deny their employees the right to join a union, fewer and fewer workers share in the pride and security that comes from being part of a professional unionized workforce.”

In 2016, let’s stand united, and let’s stand with the spirit of those who walked the path before us. Let’s vow to spread the union word, telling our friends, our families and our neighbors how proud we are to be members of a great union. Let’s continue the resolve to fight the good fight, and let’s continue to unite in moments of struggle and victory.

Let us welcome the brand new year with a sense of renewed hope, strength, solidarity and gratitude. Be union—be proud!

I wish all members and their families a happy and healthy new year.

Use your power, register to vote

Dear Members,

How often have you heard the phrase, “This is the most important election in our lifetime?” Plenty, I’m sure. The truth is, every election is important, with the most important election in our lifetime?” Plenty, I’m sure. The truth is, every election is important, especially for rail, transit and airline workers and retirees who are directly impacted by administration regulations and Congressional votes.

There is still plenty of time to scrutinize the candidates and determine who will best represent our members, retirees and their families on our issues of concern. But now is the right time to ensure you and your family are registered to vote at your current address, especially if you moved recently.

One of the simplest ways to verify your voter registration, or register to vote, is to visit the SMART TD Legislative Action Center at the bottom left of utu.org.

I am proud to say that SMART TD members are more likely to be registered to vote, and more likely to vote, than the general public. Research shows that members consistently have a turnout rate of 10 to 20 percentage points higher than the average American worker or retiree. That is real clout at the ballot box. Although we are doing better than most, we still have room for improvement.

That is why you come in. If you are not currently registered to vote, make a commitment to get your entire family registered; and if you’re not currently registered to vote, make the commitment to register to vote today.

Fraternally,

John Risch

A message from your bus department leadership

Progress in 2015 and hope for the New Year

Dear Members,

I hope everyone had a wonderful holiday season and I wish you all a happy and healthy new year.

As the new year begins, I want to thank each and every member of the SMART family.

I extend my gratitude to our union officers and civilian staff as well, whose support served to strengthen our base—and our platform, throughout 2015.

We are grateful for the support we’ve received from SMART TD President Previsich, whose outreach, leadership and advocacy enabled the Bus Department to strengthen and grow with the addition of two full-time organizers, and an increase in membership.

2015 saw an addition of newly formed bus locals, bringing our total number to 47 and growing. This is also a result of the hard work of our organizers, whose commitment to education has grown our membership.

At the District 3 Meeting, President Previsich led the swearing-in ceremony of our newly elected officers: District 3 General Chairperson Waverly W. Harris (Local 1954 at Upper Darby, Pa.), Vice President Javier Sanchez (Local 1785 at Santa Monica, Calif.), Secretary Tom Pate (Local 1081 at Glendale, Ariz.) and Treasurer Hasson Trent (Local 1715 at Charlotte, N.C.). Congratulations to everyone.

Once again, I express my gratitude to all of our members, leaders, officers and staff, for your commitment, support and solidarity—and I look forward to forging even greater progress in the new year.

Fraternally,

Moving forward in 2016

SMART General President’s Column
By Joseph Sellers Jr.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank every SMART member for your hard work in 2015, work that strengthens this union. It may not always be apparent, but along with union involvement, the day-to-day work you perform also reflects on our organization and on every member.

I want to begin 2016 by recognizing the achievements and changes over this past year. The value of our combined strength is clear when we see local unions and members standing united, whether it be during election season, or while sharing resources to ensure that local union organizers and staff receive the proper education that help them better represent you at the workplace.

With 2016 upon us, our legislative staff will work to ensure that your interests are served by getting a fair hearing on Capitol Hill and in the state capitols across the nation.

We reached legislative milestones set through the passage of the recent FAST Act to improve America’s public transit and rail transportation systems. Thanks to the efforts of our legislative department, the FAST Act passed with sweeping bipartisan support and created provisions that include: protecting transportation workers; providing united representation for members and staff; and, increased funding for transit and Amtrak operations.

This year promises to be an eventful year with the upcoming 2016 election. I thank those of you who provided input in response to the membership survey on the candidate that best represents our interests. Your voice matters, and if you haven’t done so already, I strongly urge you to make sure you and your family are registered to vote. There is nothing we can’t accomplish when our collective voices and action come together for a united purpose. Every single ballot makes a powerful impact and brings strength to our mission.

Two years ago, Dan O’Connell, SMART TD’s State Legislative Director in New Jersey, ran for office in his hometown of Delran, N.J. and went to sleep on election night thinking he had lost by two votes. The next morning he woke to a flurry of messages congratulating him on his victory. During the night, absentee ballots brought him to a 15 vote lead. That’s the kind of impact your vote can make.

Brothers and sisters, we made a great deal of progress in the last year. I look forward to reporting back on the continued progress we will make in the coming year. Until then, I would like to wish each of you a safe, happy and prosperous New Year.

Meet your SMART TD Designated Legal Counsel

SMART TD DLC here to serve you!

Every year, thousands of railroad employees are injured or killed on the job. When this happens, the railroads retain skilled claim agents and attorneys to protect their interests. They put their legal knowledge to work — taking photographs, obtaining statements from witnesses, collecting measurements.

These agents and attorneys work for the railroad, not for you. But as a railroad employee, if you are injured on the job, you have powerful rights under the Federal Employers’ Liability Act (FELA).

That is why SMART Transportation Division has chosen experienced and successful trial lawyers as its Designated Legal Counsel, and recommends these lawyers to its members and their families.

These lawyers are specialists in handling FELA claims and are experienced in dealing with the railroad claim agents and lawyers.

You should seek their counsel and advice at the earliest opportunity if you feel you have a potential FELA case and are experienced in dealing with the railroad claim agents and lawyers.

Any Designated Legal Counsel you select is YOUR agent, and their job is to represent you. They are on your side.
Al Vieira: from WWII veteran to railroading

“A railroad is a railroad, no matter when you worked at one,” said retired SMART TD (formerly United Transportation Union) Local 1991 (New York, N.Y.) member and Metro-North conductor Albert P. Vieira. “The trains were fast and dangerous in my time and they’re even faster and more dangerous now.”

Brother Vieira has seen his share of danger and speaks from hard fought experience. He saw on the battlefield while employed there for 38 years, and he lived it as a veteran of World War II. Although currently age 89, he displays the vigor of someone 40 years his junior.

Born in 1928 during the great depression, survival was instilled in him early. His father was a whaler in the Atlantic, and taught him by example the importance of hard work during hard times. He also taught him a love for his country and a love for the sea.

His love for both became evident when, after listening with his parents to an impassioned radio address by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, young Vieira informed his parents that he intended to enlist in the U.S. Navy and they consented. Several months later, on June 6, 1944 (D-Day), he found himself as a 17-year-old coxswain on a Landing Ship Tank (LST) approaching, under heavy fire, Omaha beach in Normandy, France.

Although somewhat reluctant to discuss it in great detail, Vieira briefly described the moment when the doors to the LST opened and orders were given for the sailors to exit. “The worst thing was seeing these kids, my pals, lose their lives before my eyes.” He survived, but many sailors did not. “I have never been back to Normandy since that day,” Vieira honorably served in the U.S. Navy for six years.

Brother Vieira is humble about his WWII experiences and reserved about divulging even this much information. He preferred to discuss his years while employed on the railroad. He explained his reservations, “I’m not into singing myself out. I am the same as the next guy and no better than anyone else. Some guys have been in much worse places than me.”

After the war, Vieira worked as a carpenter building houses. In 1953 he hired out as a brakeman with The New York Central Railroad (NYC). His membership date with The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (BRT) is January 1, 1956.

He was later promoted to conductor, working both freight and passenger service. Eventually, he began teaching the railroad crafts to brakeman/conductor trainees for NYC. After teaching for 30 years, he retired from the Metro-North Commuter Railroad in 1991.

Vieira is proud of the fact that he was the first conductor on the railroad to announce upcoming stations by using a microphone. A photograph of him using this microphone actually hung in Grand Central Station for years and was later given to him. It has been displayed in his home in Bedford Hills, N.Y. ever since.

As a teacher of the railroad crafts, Vieira prided himself on promoting the principles of safety, and is a self-described stickler for safety rules. He explained, “I would tell my students that you either follow the safety rules I am showing you, or you’re out. These rules will help keep you alive on the railroad. If you don’t follow them, you can get yourself injured or killed.”

On safety, Vieira noted that the carriers have been continuing to reduce train crew sizes. In contrast, he pointed out that when he first hired out, there were typically at least five crewpersons on each train. “Man, things sure are different today,” he said.

Vieira is a proud father of one daughter and two sons. He also has 15 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Although his wife passed away shortly after his retirement, he has continued to stay active throughout the years. SMART/CSXT tentative agreement update

On Friday December 18, 2015, local unions of General Committee of Adjustment 001 – representing members working for CSX Transportation - rejected a tentative agreement.

The agreement could have provided the capture of locomotive rebuild work, a higher rate of pay, an employment guarantee through 2017, and established a percentage of the workforce across the CSX system.

Within the agreement, CSX proposed a combined seniority roster that included SMART and members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) throughout the system.

In the end, the combined seniority roster proved to be a deal breaker for the membership.

GO 001 ratifies agreement

On December 15 and 16, 2015, mechanical employees of Bombardier ratified a five-year agreement with Bombardier with a vote of 17-11.

General Chairperson Joe Fraley said: “It is a proud day for the employees of Bombardier; they have successfully brought stability, and creating a less attractive quality of life for New Jersey and the NEC Region.”

Effort was also put forth by George Casey, the state director of the New England States, in support of O’Connell and the reinstatement of the S340 funding. Working together, O’Connell, Casey, Pallone and numerous others, were able to get the S340 funded back into the Surface Transportation Bill that passed Dec. 3.

SMART leads L.A. protest, sparks investigation

On Tuesday, December 1, SMART members from sheet metal and transportation locals in Los Angeles joined their brothers and sisters in the Jobs to Move America coalition for a protest outside the head-quarters of BYD Motors, Inc. – a Chinese-owned electric bus company that failed in a promise to create living wage jobs for local residents, in exchange for over $39 million in government subsidies.

The protests caught the attention of Los Angeles city officials who are now seeking documents from BYD in an investigation of the company’s failure to make good on its promises.

SMART and the Jobs to Move America coalition are working to ensure that work contracted by local and municipal transit authorities is secured by American and union-represented employers.

SMART will continue to work on behalf of workers at BYD to secure fair representation, free from company harassment.

SLDs O’Connell and Casey fought for NEC funding in transportation bill

New Jersey State Legislative Director Daniel O’Connell reports that he was invited to join U.S. Representative Frank Pallone Jr. (D - N.J.) at a press conference Nov 16. The conference was held at the New Jersey Transit (NJT) Metro Park Train Station and O’Connell spoke about the proposed elimination of the S340 High Density Routes Program in the Surface Transportation Bill.

O’Connell contended that if the program was not restored to NJT, which employs more than 1,000 members of the SMART TD, then NJT would lose $500 million. Mass transit systems from Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Delaware and Maryland also stood to lose approximately $250 million if the program was not restored.

“The loss of the S340 program would hurt development and economic activity up and down the Northeast Corridor (NEC) at a time when it is most needed, and in the places where more transit, not less, is necessary,” O’Connell said at the press conference. “The NEC Region produces one-fifth of the nation’s gross domestic product. In addition, it is estimated that the loss of the NEC for just one day could cost the nation $100 million in transportation-related impacts and productivity losses.

“By cutting programs such as this and forcing states to raise fares on Mass Transit, we run the risk of degrading our infrastructure and creating a less attractive quality of life for New Jersey and the NEC Region.”

Effort was also put forth by George Casey, the state director of the New England States, in support of O’Connell and the reinstatement of the S340 funding. Working together, O’Connell, Casey, Pallone and numerous others, were able to get the S340 funded back into the Surface Transportation Bill that passed Dec. 3.

UTUIA scholarship programs expanded!

A message from UTUIA President Ken Laugel

50 new Skilled Trade Scholarships launched!

The growth and success of our country and the society in which we live today is owed, in a large part, to the devotion of the millions of skilled labor workers who tirelessly laid the foundation upon which our great nation was built. Today, we face a critical shortage of skilled labor as a result of an aging workforce and a decreasing pool of qualified workers. The UTUIA, which for over 149 years has committed to providing benefits for transportation workers and the related trades, has now committed to taking action to encourage and reward young people who enroll in vocational programs and seek out certification in a skilled trade.

We made a promise to support skilled labor at the SMART TD Regional Meetings in 2015, and we are now proud to announce the launch of our skilled trade scholarship program. In addition to providing 50 continuing $1,000.00 four-year college scholarships, we are now offering 50 scholarships designed specifically for the students who choose a skilled trade path.

These $1,000.00 trade scholarships will be awarded each year, for a maximum of two years and will require successful completion of approved coursework through an accredited school to qualify. It is our hope that in a small and meaningful way, we can help to support the skilled labor trades and at the same time fulfill our fraternal mission to the brotherhood.

Remember, you must be a member of the UTUIA by either owning a UTUIA insurance policy or by being the child or grandchild of a UTUIA policyholder. The deadline to apply for both scholarships is March 31, 2016. Students must choose either trade school or college and only one application per student will be allowed.

Full Details and official rules are available at www.utuia.org.

On December 3, 2015, Congress passed H.R. 22, the Fixing America’s Surface Transportation Act (FAST ACT) by overwhelming bipartisan votes of 83 to 16 in the Senate and 359 to 65 in the House.

“I’m very pleased with the legislation overall compared to some of the original proposals. The legislation was modified in both houses and in the conference committee to correct many of the harmful issues facing our membership,” SMART Transportation Division President John Previsich said.

“Our National Legislative Director, John Risch and his team, working with other unions and allies, did a stellar job on a very complex 1300-page piece of legislation that was passed through a very complicated legislative process.”

“Considering the makeup of Congress, we are pleased overall with the policy provisions in this legislation, and that the law covers five years of authorization,” said Risch. “However, we are disappointed that much of the funding came from non-user fees. Freight railroads alone fund their own track and infrastructure. Using general funding for highways puts railroads at a competitive disadvantage because trucks are not paying their fair share of costs for highway construction and maintenance.”

This landmark legislation marks the first long-term surface transportation reauthorization in a decade and provides funding and policy changes for our nation’s highways, mass transit and rail systems.

The FAST ACT includes a number of SMART TD policy priorities, as outlined below:

- Provisions to protect transit members from assault.
- ECP brake mandate is maintained.
- Inward-facing cameras cannot be used to retaliate against employees.
- Removed harmful privatization language for transit projects.
- Biased hair testing methods rejected.
- Working Alerters in controlling locomotive of commuter and intercity passenger trains.
- Signal Protection.
- PTC Grants: The legislation provides $199 million to finance a competitive grant program for PTC implementation on commuter railroads.
- Funding Amtrak and Transit: Transit programs will receive a nine percent funding increase in Fiscal year 2016 over FY 2015 levels and two percent increases each year through 2020.
