Hollywood, Fla., Regional Meeting

Transportation, Sheet Metal converge with joint session

Previsich tells attendees U.S. labor at critical juncture after Janus

Hollywood, Fla. — Transportation Division President John Previsich looked to the recent past to point the way to the future at a critical point in United States labor history.

In opening remarks Aug. 6 to the International Association of Sheet Metal, Air, Rail and Transportation Workers’ first combined educational meeting at the Hilton Diplomat Resort in Hollywood, Florida, Previsich reflected on the status of the coordinated bargaining unit’s national rail agreement talks that appeared to be at a standstill last summer.

At the time, a declaration of an impasse was likely at the next meeting between the rail labor unions and the carriers and a Presidential Emergency Board would convene, Previsich said. But the potential impasse was broken at the next meeting with the carriers willing to negotiate, and Previsich has an inkling of what played a big part: unity.

Previsich appeared at the Sheet Metal Business Agents Conference in Vancouver last year and said that might have changed the tide.

“I told the Sheet Metal brothers and sisters in the room that when the time came, and that we had to look at a Presidential Emergency Board, I said I didn’t want 65,000 Transportation Division members calling the White House. I wanted 200,000 SMART members calling the White House,” Previsich said.

“Every brother and sister stood up...”

Continued on Page 3

MORE ON THE REGIONAL MEETINGS: PAGES 3, 6-8.

Inside this issue of SMART TD News

- AROUND SMART TD: GCA 256 and Local 1703 ratify new contracts with carriers, Page 2.
- CAMPAIGNING: Rules on distribution of literature established, Page 9.
- PRESIDENTS’ COLUMNS: The latest messages from the leaders of our union, Pages 4-5.
- ALUMNI NEWS: A Chicago attorney has been nominated to lead the Railroad Retirement Board, Page 10.
- STATE WATCH: Florida SLB hosts guests at the Hollywood, Fla., meeting, Page 5.
- FATAL ACCIDENT: Conductor Julio Ariguznaga-Anderson of Local 365 was killed Aug. 13, Page 11.
General Chairperson Christopher Bartz reports that negotiations with Canadian Pacific have resulted in a successfully ratified contract for yardmasters under GO 256. The six-year agreement, effective July 1, runs through Dec. 31, 2021. Negotiations began in mid-spring 2016 with the assistance of former Vice President James Cumby before Vice President Jeremy Ferguson stepped in on April 20 to help achieve a tentative agreement. “We were able to gain an additional 1 percent possible raise in years 2020 & 2021 depending on the RTMs (Revenue Ton Miles),” Bartz reported. During negotiations, Bartz reported the following were achieved for members:

- Four Sadie Hawkins Days replacing the previous single day, which Bartz said allows up to four moves per year;
- Company match stock program with a 33 percent carrier match with fully vested after two years up to a max of 6 percent;
- Back pay from Jan. 1, 2016, to July 1, 2018;
- Semi-monthly extra board guarantee from a monthly guarantee. In return, Bartz said, members went from a 10-day bump to a 48-hour bump, and members will have to enroll in the carrier’s electronic grievance claims program.

Local 1703, Knoxville, Tenn.
Alternate Vice President Bus East Alvy Hughes reported that Local 1703 ratified a three-year agreement with First Transit on July 28.

The new contract, which runs from July 1 of this year to July 1, 2021, consists of reimbursement for CDLs, an increase in company contributions to healthcare insurance, additional personal day, MLK Day, and a wage increase of 4 percent per year of term, retroactive from July 1. The membership also receives a better bidding procedure with no new work rule changes. “Brother Heath Harper, general chairperson, and Vice Chairperson Dallas Jones worked tirelessly for the membership to bring the best agreement to the members,” Hughes said.

Members of Local 1703 provide transportation for the University of Tennessee, which has a 910-acre campus that serves more than 28,000 students.

Local 407, Charleston, S.C.

Local 1582, Albany, N.Y.

Wes Wohl, past local president and Local 1582 Adirondack Trailways Committee member, got his 2-million-mile safety award in May.

Local 898, Boston, Mass.

Dave Stevenson, local secretary, and Cole Czub, vice local chairman, brought pizza and water and walked the picket line Aug. 2 in support of locked-out union workers in Lowell, Mass.

Local 1344, Mandan, N.D.

Members joined local members of the BLET and TCUIAM-Carmen’s Division to show off their brand new float promoting rail safety and two-person crews before the big fourth of July parade in Mandan. North Dakota U.S. Sen. Heidi Heilkeamp (D), the prime sponsor of S.2360, the federal two-person crew bill, stopped by.

Alaska Railroad conductor Harry Ross, center, poses with his onboard crew in this picture courtesy of Glenn Aronwits of GA Digital Photos.

‘Singing conductor’ reaches his coda with Alaska RR

Fifty-year railroad veteran Harry Ross, 72, hung up his conductor’s cap for the last time this month. Hiring out in early 1968 as a student brakeman with Alaska Railroad (ARR), Ross held many different positions over the years, becoming a full-fledged brakeman in 1970, then a conductor in 1971. From 1979 to 1984, he oversaw train operations in ARR’s Anchorage Yard, first as a yardmaster trainee and then later as a yardmaster. In 1985, Ross returned to his former position and took on the duties of brakeman/conductor – a position he’s held ever since.

Ross, a member of Local 1626 since 1975, broke down the color barrier at ARR; he was the first African-American brakeman and conductor to be hired there. Ross told Alaska Public Media that he applied for two transportation jobs in 1968, one with Western Airlines and the other with ARR. He said Western Airlines turned him down for the job because of his voluminous hair. “They didn’t give me any option of cutting it,” Ross told the Los Angeles Times. The attitude of ARR management was much different, he said. “As long as I put that hat on and did what I had to do, it was all good.”

Working for the railroad was not without its trials. Ross told Alaska Public Media that he faced adversity on the job from day one. “I had a lot of people that I worked with, that did not want to work with me only because of the color of my skin. And, of course, that didn’t bother me because I’ve always been a people person, and I figured one way or another I was gonna win them over,” he said. “One by one, I did, and there were some, of course, I didn’t. And it’s not gonna change those people, that’s just the way they are.”

After 50 years on the railroad – most of it as a conductor (he’s been one for roughly 41 years) – Ross has had an interesting career and life to say the least. Known as the “singing conductor,” Ross went above and beyond in treating passengers to a memorable experience, singing blues songs on the Coastal Classic train route. “It’s just an amazing job. I really love working passenger trains. I love working with people. I love showing people what Alaska’s about and what I’m about,” Ross told the Times.

Continued on Page 3
President Previsich says labor in U.S. at a critical point after high court’s decision in Janus v. AFSCME and pledged their support. I would like to think that support, that word, that message, went—maybe to the White House. It went somewhere good, because at the very next session immediately after that meeting in Vancouver, the railroads came into the room and started negotiating.

Continued from Page 1

Within a month, a contract offer was on the table that was ratified Dec. 1, 2017, by four out of five TD members, Previsich said.

“It was the support of every one in that room that made that happen,” he said.

Establishing that unity, not only within SMART, but among all labor organizations nationwide, and education efforts will be key in the aftermath of the attack on labor in the form of this summer’s Janus decision by the U.S. Supreme Court.

“There are forces out there that want to reset the entire playing field. They want to move the goalposts to a place that we can’t get to. They started with Janus,” Previsich said.

The Janus decision nullifies the ability of public-sector union members to collect what are known as maintenance fees from “free-riders” — those people who take advantage of union membership benefits but do not pay for them.

“It is not going to be fatal to our organization, but it could have a severe impact on other organizations,” Previsich said.

Public-sector unions that protect government employees will be most affected, but that doesn’t mean that those anti-union forces will stop at just that single victory in an ultimate goal to crush labor in the U.S.

“The next step is to private employers and there are already efforts to start that happening,” Previsich said. “They create a dispute here, a dispute there, get some conflicting court decisions and boom, it bubbles up to the Supreme Court.”

With a second Supreme Court vacancy to be filled by the Trump administration, 150 years of U.S. labor history that workers fought and died for is under attack and in jeopardy, Previsich said.

That means that union members — all of them — need to act.

“We can no longer sit back and let somebody else take care of our business. We have to take care of it,” Previsich said. “We have to stand united, not only within, but with labor organizations in the country. We need to talk to our friends, our relatives, our neighbors and everybody we encounter in the grocery store and let them know the labor movement is an honorable movement.

“It’s the foundation of America and if they start beating back the unions, they’re going to beat back every employee in any form whether they are unionized or not— we can’t let it happen.”

The key to stopping the attack will be individual action and spreading the word, member-to-member, about the importance of the November mid-term elections, Previsich said.

“This is really a cliff-side point in labor history. I can’t stress strongly enough how important it is that we motivate our members to get out there to preserve the labor movement. We can’t forget our paychecks. We can’t forget our pensions, our benefits and our families.

“We need to make sure our members are educated on everything that is important to the cause, the movement, the preservation of the labor lifestyle that comes about as the result of unions and the hard work that they’ve been doing for 150 years.”

An election victory over right-to-work-for-less legislation in Missouri on Aug. 7 was a step in the right direction.

“We sent a message that was heard loud and clear,” Previsich said at the closing session. “It was a message that we need to send again in November and we need to make sure everyone remembers that— keep it going.”

The Hollywood, Fla., meeting was the first time since the formation of SMART that both a TD regional meeting and a Sheet Metal business agents conference were in the same location.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—SMART Transportation Division General Counsel Kevin Brodar minced no words Aug. 7, when describing the 5-4 Janus v. AFSCME decision written by United States Supreme Court Justice Samuel Alito that was released this summer.

“He’s hate and loathing — and that’s being kind—for unions and anti-union forces will stop at just that single victory in an ultimate goal to crush labor in the U.S.

“The next step is to private employers and there are already efforts to start that happening,” Previsich said. “They create a dispute here, a dispute there, get some conflicting court decisions and boom, it bubbles up to the Supreme Court.”

With a second Supreme Court vacancy to be filled by the Trump administration, 150 years of U.S. labor history that workers fought and died for is under attack and in jeopardy, Previsich said.

That means that union members — all of them — need to act.

“We can no longer sit back and let somebody else take care of our business. We have to take care of it,” Previsich said. “We have to stand united, not only within, but with labor organizations in the country. We need to talk to our friends, our relatives, our neighbors and everybody we encounter in the grocery store and let them know the labor movement is an honorable movement.

“It’s the foundation of America and if they start beating back the unions, they’re going to beat back every employee in any form whether they are unionized or not— we can’t let it happen.”

The key to stopping the attack will be individual action and spreading the word, member-to-member, about the importance of the November mid-term elections, Previsich said.

“This is really a cliff-side point in labor history. I can’t stress strongly enough how important it is that we motivate our members to get out there to preserve the labor movement. We can’t forget our paychecks. We can’t forget our pensions, our benefits and our families.

“We need to make sure our members are educated on everything that is important to the cause, the movement, the preservation of the labor lifestyle that comes about as the result of unions and the hard work that they’ve been doing for 150 years.”

An election victory over right-to-work-for-less legislation in Missouri on Aug. 7 was a step in the right direction.

“We sent a message that was heard loud and clear,” Previsich said at the closing session. “It was a message that we need to send again in November and we need to make sure everyone remembers that— keep it going.”

The Hollywood, Fla., meeting was the first time since the formation of SMART that both a TD regional meeting and a Sheet Metal business agents conference were in the same location.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—SMART Transportation Division General Counsel Kevin Brodar minced no words Aug. 7, when describing the 5-4 Janus v. AFSCME decision written by United States Supreme Court Justice Samuel Alito that was released this summer.

“He’s hate and loathing — and that’s being kind—for unions and anti-union forces will stop at just that single victory in an ultimate goal to crush labor in the U.S.

“The next step is to private employers and there are already efforts to start that happening,” Previsich said. “They create a dispute here, a dispute there, get some conflicting court decisions and boom, it bubbles up to the Supreme Court.”

With a second Supreme Court vacancy to be filled by the Trump administration, 150 years of U.S. labor history that workers fought and died for is under attack and in jeopardy, Previsich said.

That means that union members — all of them — need to act.

“We can no longer sit back and let somebody else take care of our business. We have to take care of it,” Previsich said. “We have to stand united, not only within, but with labor organizations in the country. We need to talk to our friends, our relatives, our neighbors and everybody we encounter in the grocery store and let them know the labor movement is an honorable movement.

“It’s the foundation of America and if they start beating back the unions, they’re going to beat back every employee in any form whether they are unionized or not— we can’t let it happen.”

The key to stopping the attack will be individual action and spreading the word, member-to-member, about the importance of the November mid-term elections, Previsich said.

“This is really a cliff-side point in labor history. I can’t stress strongly enough how important it is that we motivate our members to get out there to preserve the labor movement. We can’t forget our paychecks. We can’t forget our pensions, our benefits and our families.

“We need to make sure our members are educated on everything that is important to the cause, the movement, the preservation of the labor lifestyle that comes about as the result of unions and the hard work that they’ve been doing for 150 years.”

An election victory over right-to-work-for-less legislation in Missouri on Aug. 7 was a step in the right direction.

“We sent a message that was heard loud and clear,” Previsich said at the closing session. “It was a message that we need to send again in November and we need to make sure everyone remembers that— keep it going.”

The Hollywood, Fla., meeting was the first time since the formation of SMART that both a TD regional meeting and a Sheet Metal business agents conference were in the same location.

Continued from Page 1

The ‘Singing conductor’ of Alaska Railroad, a member of Local 1626, reaches coda after 50 years

Continued from Page 2

Ross was featured on the Discovery Channel’s Destination America series, “Railroad Alaska” for two seasons. (Railroad Alaska began in 2013 and ended in January 2016.) Ross was featured on the show, starring in season two and is credited with being in 10 episodes during seasons two and three.

“A lot of people see that, and they want to take pictures with me,” Ross told the LA Times.

Outside of work, Ross enjoys riding his Harley-Davidson motorcycle and is a part of a soul dance band called The Diamonds of Alaska in which he sings and plays percussion.

Alaska Railroad celebrated Ross’ 50th work anniversary in March. Ross, and another 50-year veteran, carman writer/inspector Charles R. Dillard Jr., both received 50-year service pins and letters of recognition. Both had dining cars named after them, and Dining Coach 401 is now The Harry Ross Coach on the Coastal Classic train, which runs from Anchorage to Seward, Alaska.

SMART TD congratulates Ross on his honors and wishes him well in his retirement.
As we head into the critical path of this election cycle, it’s easy to get caught up in the noise — now, more than ever. Which makes it even more important to go back to the basics and remember who and what we are voting for. We vote to protect our common interests, pocketbook issues, dignity and peace of mind. When it comes to the health of our families, retirement and pensions. We vote to improve safety conditions and to ensure politicians invest the resources to make it happen.

We vote to protect our common interests, pocketbook issues, dignity and peace of mind. When it comes to the health of our families, retirement and pensions. We vote to improve safety conditions and to ensure politicians invest the resources to make it happen.

To all members of SMART:
Sisters and brothers, this year has almost passed us by. A lot has happened and both of our regional meetings are done. Attendance at the meetings was great this year. A lot of networking, training and communication took place between our elected officials and the membership.

As the year comes to a close, we are gearing up for the elections of our local committees of adjustment and local delegates. This is the time to elect your officials. Please get involved in this process. Remember, the person who gets elected works for you, YOU are the union. Be sure to pick the right person for the open positions to keep your local running “SMART.”

First Student school bus Local 1909 in Gardena, Calif., is up and running. Local officials have been elected, trained and put in place. Their first meeting will be Oct. 3.

The Bus Department is also working very hard to get a contract for Coach U.S.A. in Anaheim, Calif. We have the contract about "SMART." Many other projects that we are working on are keeping the membership informed about the Janus v. AFSCME case and passing on information on the importance of unions.

Operator assault has risen around the country. We are working around the clock on this matter. It has been a long-term issue and, until recently, has not been given much attention via social media or the news. The payout from companies is very high, motivating them to find inventions to protect their operators. I am confident that more protection will be provided for our membership in the very near future. Most operator assaults take place over fare disputes. The payment of fares can be switched to a different system, similar to light rail or by having the operator in a compartment separate from the public. Converting buses over to this type of fare system or separating the operators completely should take care of 99 percent of the assaults on operators. If any of our members have any suggestions, please contact the Bus Department and give us your input on what can be done to better protect bus operators.

Here’s a reminder to always put safety first. Make sure you get proper rest and always allow enough time to arrive at work. Do NOT rush, speed or cut corners to arrive on time. Remember, many lives are in your hands, so please put safety first. Until next time, God bless America and all of us.

Adhi Reddy
SMART TD Bus
Vice President
216-287-9324
areddy@smart-union.org

By Joseph Sellers Jr.

November is approaching — are you registered?

Joseph Sellers Jr.
SMART General President
jsellers@smart-union.org

John Previsich
SMART Transportation Division President
president_td@smart-union.org

John Risch
SMART Transportation Division National Legislative Director
jrisch@smart-union.org

Our hard work, SMART families will win in November. Text VOTE SMART to 21333 (message and data rates may apply) to make sure you are prepared for Election Day. Be safe!

Fraternally,

Joseph Sellers Jr.
SMART General President

AVIATION NEWS IN BRIEF
Single-pilot cargo crew provision in FAA bill infuriates pilot unions

In a move that has infuriated pilots and their unions, Congress has included allocations for research and implementation of single-piloted all-cargo flights into H.R. 4, the FAA reauthorization funding bill now under consideration. Section 744 of the bill establishes a "research and development program in support of single-piloted cargo aircraft assisted with remote piloting and computer piloting" in conjunction with NASA and other relevant agencies.

On Aug. 1, unions representing the pilots of nearly 50 commercial airlines joined together at the 64th Air Safety Forum hosted by the Air Line Pilots Association, Int'l (ALPA) to express their opposition of what they’re calling a “dangerous set of provisions” added to the FAA reauthorization bill.

“ALPA adamantly opposes FAA Reauthorization Section 744 and will continue to use every resource we have to ensure that this anti-safety provision is not enacted,” wrote ALPA President Captain Tim Canol in a joint press release with six other unions.

H.R. 4 passed in the House of Representatives 393 – 13 on April 27. The bill now sits in the Senate where it has been placed on Legislative Calendar No. 401.

FAA declines to regulate legroom, seat width on airlines

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was ordered by a judge in 2017 to address the issue of airlines shrinking the sizes of seats and legroom in order to add more seating on planes. The FAA has responded by ruling that seat shrinkage does not affect passenger safety and so they will not be setting limits on legroom or seat width.

“The FAA has no evidence showing that current seat dimensions hamper the speed of passenger evacuation, or that increased passenger size creates an evacuation issue,” an FAA spokesman told MarketWatch. “During an evacuation, passengers stand up in just a few seconds, which is less time than it takes for emergency exits to begin functioning and for the line that forms in the aisle to clear.”
State Watch

Florida board hosts legislative guests at Hollywood meeting

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. – The Florida State Legislative Board invited two Florida state politicians to address attendees at the August regional meeting. While there, both pledged to continue their advocacy for labor while thanking members for their support.

State Rep. Joe Geller (D – Dist. 100) said that an inhospi-tatable political climate at the moment in the Florida Legislature won’t deter him from fighting against anti-labor policies in Tallahassee.

“I’m one of the people in Tallahassee who doesn’t make any bones about where I stand,” he said at the Aug. 6 lunch break. “I’m pro-union. I’m pro-labor. I stand with working men and women because working men and women are who built this country.”

Geller said better wages, a support system for the impoverished, improved workplace safety and aid to public schools came as a result of the labor movement’s efforts.

“Labor is what made this country what it is today, and we all need to stand together with the labor movement, and I always will,” he said.

Geller, a former mayor and former Miami-Dade County Democratic Party chairman, said it’s easy to identify those who oppose labor – they constantly look to cut those things that unions have clawed and fought to achieve.

“There is no mistake that there is an assault on the rights of working men and women around our country and right here in this state. We’ve got to stand up and stand together — link our arms together as men and women and stand for the rights for working people, especially to organize and be treated fairly,” he said.

The U.S. Supreme Court’s Janus v. AFSCME decision in June is one example of this assault, and things will need to be done legislatively to fix the damage done by the decision as well as to further protect workers.

“If we don’t stand with each other, we’re not going to be able to withstand this right-wing assault on working men and women that happens in so many ways,” Geller said. “Don’t feel like you’re alone. There’s plenty of us out there who see who they’re trying to do and won’t stand for it.

“We will not quietly go along with these plans to undermine working men and women and their chosen labor organizations. We’re here to fight, and we need everybody to stand together and fight this fail in the most important mid-term election that this country has ever seen.”

State Sen. Jose Javier Rodriguez (D – Dist. 37) began his speech at the Aug. 7 opening session with a message of thanks to members.

“Thank you for staying active in your union, staying informed, for volunteering, for voting,” Rodriguez said.

At the state level in Florida, he said legislation to improve safety conditions for rail workers and bus operators is a priority, but it’s been difficult to make progress.

“I wish there was more that we could do in our current political climate to move the needle,” Rodriguez said. “In the Legislature, it’s mainly just been about holding the line against some of the attacks that Mr. Brodar had been talking about.

“Please give what you can and donate to:

SMART TD Disaster Relief Fund
24950 Country Club Blvd., Suite 340
North Olmsted, OH 44070-5333.

With your help, we can make the task of starting over a little less daunting for those affected by Florence. Thank you.

In solidarity,

John Previsich
President, Transportation Division

---

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. – The Florida State Legislative Board invited two Florida state politicians to address attendees at the August regional meeting. While there, both pledged to continue their advocacy for labor while thanking members for their support.

State Rep. Joe Geller (D – Dist. 100) said that an inhospitable political climate at the moment in the Florida Legislature won’t deter him from fighting against anti-labor policies in Tallahassee.

“I’m one of the people in Tallahassee who doesn’t make any bones about where I stand,” he said at the Aug. 6 lunch break. “I’m pro-union. I’m pro-labor. I stand with working men and women because working men and women are who built this country.”

Geller said better wages, a support system for the impoverished, improved workplace safety and aid to public schools came as a result of the labor movement’s efforts.

“Labor is what made this country what it is today, and we all need to stand together with the labor movement, and I always will,” he said.

Geller, a former mayor and former Miami-Dade County Democratic Party chairman, said it’s easy to identify those who oppose labor – they constantly look to cut those things that unions have clawed and fought to achieve.

“There is no mistake that there is an assault on the rights of working men and women around our country and right here in this state. We’ve got to stand up and stand together — link our arms together as men and women and stand for the rights for working people, especially to organize and be treated fairly,” he said.

The U.S. Supreme Court’s Janus v. AFSCME decision in June is one example of this assault, and things will need to be done legislatively to fix the damage done by the decision as well as to further protect workers.

“If we don’t stand with each other, we’re not going to be able to withstand this right-wing assault on working men and women that happens in so many ways,” Geller said. “Don’t feel like you’re alone. There’s plenty of us out there who see who they’re trying to do and won’t stand for it.

“We will not quietly go along with these plans to undermine working men and women and their chosen labor organizations. We’re here to fight, and we need everybody to stand together and fight this fail in the most important mid-term election that this country has ever seen.”

State Sen. Jose Javier Rodriguez (D – Dist. 37) began his speech at the Aug. 7 opening session with a message of thanks to members.

“Thank you for staying active in your union, staying informed, for volunteering, for voting,” Rodriguez said.

At the state level in Florida, he said legislation to improve safety conditions for rail workers and bus operators is a priority, but it’s been difficult to make progress.

“I wish there was more that we could do in our current political climate to move the needle,” Rodriguez said. “In the Legislature, it’s mainly just been about holding the line against some of the attacks that Mr. Brodar had been talking about.

“Please give what you can and donate to:

SMART TD Disaster Relief Fund
24950 Country Club Blvd., Suite 340
North Olmsted, OH 44070-5333.

With your help, we can make the task of starting over a little less daunting for those affected by Florence. Thank you.

In solidarity,

John Previsich
President, Transportation Division

---

However, had you seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.

Hurricane Florence was a Category 1 storm, but it did not tell that to the people whose homes were devastated by the flooding it caused.

You may have seen the media coverage coming out of the mid-Atlantic states — Florence dropped astonishing amounts of rain over North Carolina and elsewhere as it took three days to creep through the state.

As this piece was being written, damage estimates were still being calculated. When those are completed, they will likely be in the millions, more probably billions.

Those early reports also said that 14 lives were lost. That toll also may tragically rise.
2018 Seattle and Hollywood, Fla., regional meetings photo recap

From left, James McPherson III of Local 1589, Graham Norris (facing camera) of Local 1741, Sharon Chappell of Local 1741 and Mary Sells and Lenore Young, both of Local 23, participate in an exercise during a Bus Department workshop at the Seattle regional meeting.

From left, James McPherson III of Local 1589, Graham Norris (facing camera) of Local 1741, Sharon Chappell of Local 1741 and Mary Sells and Lenore Young, both of Local 23, participate in an exercise during a Bus Department workshop at the Seattle regional meeting.

Jeremy Klein, legislative representative for Local 1168 (Clovis, N.M.), shows off the new SMART TD polo shirt he bought from the American Products booth at the Seattle regional meeting.

Mike Vega, left, scans the QR code of a member’s name badge after a workshop about the Railway Labor Act on July 3 in the Westin Hotel in Seattle.

Locals 202 and 238 win drawings for regional meeting admissions

As part of the regional meeting Certificate of Achievement program, members can attain a bronze, silver or gold level based on workshops completed. Locals whose members attain the gold level are automatically entered into a drawing to win five complimentary registration packages for the following year’s regional meeting.

The Seattle drawing winner was Local 202 Chairperson John Schnick, and the Hollywood winner was Jeremy Hansen, Local 238’s legislative rep.

From left, RC Donner, local trustee of Local 1238 (Vancouver, Wash.), Phil Richards of Local 730 (Great Falls, Mont.) and local chairperson of LCA-001, and Jeremy Bellenger, president of Local 1238, chat between workshops at the Seattle meeting.

Yvonne Hayes, local chairperson of LCA-851A and a member of Local 1126 (Miami, Fla.) who also serves as the rail labor representative to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, gives a presentation about hazardous materials to the SMART Transportation Division Auxiliary workshop Aug. 7 at the Hollywood, Fla., meeting.

San Diego to host the 2019 regional meeting

SMART Transportation Division President John Previsich has announced the location of 2019’s regional meeting.

The Hilton San Diego Bayfront, the site of the 2014 SMART TD convention, will welcome SMART TD July 1 to 3, 2019. San Diego will be the lone regional meeting because it is a convention year.

From left, KC Donner, local trustee of Local 1238 (Vancouver, Wash.), Phil Richards of Local 730 (Great Falls, Mont.) and local chairperson of LCA-001, and Jeremy Bellenger, president of Local 1238, chat between workshops at the Seattle meeting.

The track of Seattle’s famous monorail runs right past the Westin Hotel, background, which hosted one of the two SMART TD regional meetings this summer.

Locals 202 and 238 win drawings for regional meeting admissions

As part of the regional meeting Certificate of Achievement program, members can attain a bronze, silver or gold level based on workshops completed. Locals whose members attain the gold level are automatically entered into a drawing to win five complimentary registration packages for the following year’s regional meeting.

The Seattle drawing winner was Local 202 Chairperson John Schnick, and the Hollywood winner was Jeremy Hansen, Local 238’s legislative rep.

From left, JC Donner, local trustee of Local 1238 (Vancouver, Wash.), Phil Richards of Local 730 (Great Falls, Mont.) and local chairperson of LCA-001, and Jeremy Bellenger, president of Local 1238, chat between workshops at the Seattle meeting.

Yvonne Hayes, local chairperson of LCA-851A and a member of Local 1126 (Miami, Fla.) who also serves as the rail labor representative to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, gives a presentation about hazardous materials to the SMART Transportation Division Auxiliary workshop Aug. 7 at the Hollywood, Fla., meeting. of the labor movement, workers’ efforts to organize sometimes were met with armed responses intended to put down their resistance.

“No matter how many people were killed, however, the industrialists and the right-wingers and the conservatives and the business interests could not kill the idea of unions,” Brodar said.

“They could not kill the cause because the cause is a righteous cause … You are the heirs to that fight.”

Those same forces that tried to suppress unions in the past exist today in the form of union foes such as Alito, the Koch brothers, the Federalist Society and other billionaire backers, Brodar said. This time, those enemies of labor are playing a long game with the Janus ruling being one step in their attempts to kill unions.

“They hope to dry up the union funds until the unions can no longer function and they just disappear and go away,” Brodar said.

The Janus decision “is essentially a green light for people to freeload” from public-sector unions, he said, and private-sector unions likely will be next to be targeted.

“Our new tactic is death from strangulation. They hope to dry up the union funds until the unions can no longer function and they just disappear and go away,” Brodar said.

The Janus decision “is essentially a green light for people to freeload” from public-sector unions, he said, and private-sector unions likely will be next to be targeted.

“Look at the people sitting next to you. This affects your brothers and sisters in this room, in this union today, tomorrow,” Brodar said.

“If you don’t think they are coming for the private sector, wake up and smell the coffee. That’s the next thing that is going to happen.”

Members will have to make a choice to fight back to preserve that which gives them a middle-class lifestyle, Brodar said. They can do that by educating their fellow members, their friends, neighbors and anyone else they can about what these anti-union forces are trying to accomplish through stacking the courts, trying to get right-to-work-for-less laws and other means.

“It’s up to us to respond. We can’t sit back, because if we do, we will disappear,” Brodar said.

“We need to go out and educate every member every day, every way.”

www.smart-union.org/td • www.utuia.org
Procedures for this autumn's elections have been released by Transportation Division office

Rules about distribution of campaign materials are issued

The SMART Transportation Division elections set for this autumn have generated questions concerning the distribution of campaign material. The following processes and positions posed by those considering running for office who wish to obtain membership lists for use in campaign.

Under U.S. Department of Labor rules, if all candidates running for union office have a right under the law to have campaign literature distributed to the membership by the union at the candidate's expense. The union must honor requests for distribution of literature to all members in good standing.

A member need not be formally nominated to be entitled to distribute campaign literature. Campaign material must be mailed out by the Local Secretary, Treasurer or Secretary & Treasurer upon request but must be funneled through union offices which are already staffed, sealed and proper postage affixed.

Each candidate must be treated equally with respect to the cost of distributing campaign literature. There is no requirement that the union distribute free literature. A member, however, if a union distributes any candidate's literature without charge, all other candidates should be notified that they are also entitled to have their literature distributed without charge. If it is discovered that a candidate has used a "personal" mailing list which was created or obtained as a result of the candidate (or a supporter) serving as an officer or a union job, the list should be made available to all other candidates.

A union may not limit the number of mailings such a permit is permitted to make. A union may require candidates to pay in advance for campaign literature distributions, if such a requirement is applied uniformly to all candidates. A union may not regulate the contents of campaign literature it is asked to distribute and may not require that

Continued on Page 11

September 2018 SMART TD News
President Donald Trump nominated Erhard Chorle, a Chicago attorney, to serve a five-year term as chairman of the Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) on July 27. Chorle’s confirmation would fill a vacancy that was created in August 2015 by the retirement of Michael Schwartz after Schwartz’s 12 years as RRB chairman. Chorle serves as a partner in the corporate and business counseling practice group of Pedersen & Houpt in Chicago, and a biography published on Pedersen & Houpt’s website says Chorle specializes in corporate securities, regulatory and government advice and counsel.

“It’s an honor to be nominated,” Chorle said when reached by email. According to his biography, Chorle served the Illinois state government as senior assistant to the director of labor, deputy secretary of state and as the state’s securities commissioner. He served as executive assistant for financial and regulatory affairs in Gov. Jim Edgar’s administration beginning in 1991 and had experience overseeing the state’s major financial regulations department, including banks, trusts and insurance, as well as the state’s various financing authorities and pension funds.

Chorle also was chairman of the Illinois state Board of Investment, a $10 billion fund investing the assets of three Illinois state pension systems. He received his B.S. from DePaul University in 1978 and a juris doctorate from John Marshall Law School in 1984 and joined Pedersen & Houpt in July 2017.

If confirmed by the U.S. Senate, Chorle’s term would run through Aug. 28, 2022.

Alumni member Sigler stays active with letter, meetings after retirement

Terry Sigler, a retired member of Local 286 who served as board secretary on the Nebraska State Legislative Board for nearly two decades and as the local’s legislative representative, still stays involved by fighting for the cause of rail workers.

The SMART TD Alumni Association members who were in the pin in November 2011, yet remain committed to the TD cause by being active in other ways—he organized a workmans’ summit for rail workers from various unions in April in North Platte, Neb., that was attended by more than 100 members and another at the beginning of this month. He also recently had a letter to the editor published in the North Platte Telegraph on June 28 taking U.S. Sen. Deb Fischer (R-Neb.) to task over her stance on rail safety.

“Labor organizations, including SMART TD, which represents train and engine operating employees, (have) reviewed this bill with their legal teams and (have) concluded that the legislation Fischer introduced is faulty,” Sigler wrote.

Alumni leaders reunite in Hollywood

SMART Transportation Division Alumni Association President Carl Cochran, left, and Kenny Manges, former Missouri state legislative director, who has taken a very active role in the association, got a chance to catch up with one another at the Hollywood meeting in Cochran’s home state of Florida.

The FInal Call

Following are the names of recently deceased members who maintained annual membership in the SMART TD Alumni Association, according to reports received at SMART TD Headquarters. These brothers and sisters will be missed by their many friends and by follow SMART TD Alumni Association members.
Local 365 member killed in accident

Julio Abraham Ariguza-Anderson, 33, a member of SMART Transportation Division Local 965 in Dallas, Texas, was killed Monday, Aug. 13, in an accident near the Dallas, Garland & Northeastern (DGN) rail yard in South Dallas.

Ariguza-Anderson, of Garland, Texas, joined SMART TD in April and was a conductor for DGN, a unit owned by Genesee & Wyoming. He served our country as a soldier in the U.S. Army, serving three tours of duty and was a Purple Heart recipient. Survivors include his mother; maternal grandmother; sisters; brother and 10 nieces and nephews whom he loved dearly.

Rules have been established for distribution of campaign materials

Continued from Page 9

It is permitted to read the literature before distribution. The union may not censor campaign literature in any way, even if the literature includes derogatory remarks about other candidates. Bona fide candidates (i.e., those who have been nominated for office) can contact the office of the SMART Transportation Division president to receive mailing lists of the local’s or LCAs’ voters. We do not provide email addresses or telephone numbers, and, as a courtesy to their local’s or LCA’s voters, we do not provide email addresses should not be distributed or used in campaigning.

This office can provide by printout of the list costs $50, with an additional $0.50 per 500 in excess of 2,000. The above covers time, material and use of equipment, plus postage where applicable. Requests for mailing lists should be addressed to SMART Transportation Division President John Previsich and can be emailed to president@smart-union.org, or candidates can call 216-228-9400, and ask to speak to a representative in the President’s Department. This office will reach out to ensure the member requesting the information is a bona fide candidate.

In addition, all candidates, upon request, must be granted access by the local secretary, treasurer or secretary & treasurer to inspect the voter eligibility list once within 30 days of the date of tabulation. No copies of the eligibility list are to be provided or carried away by the candidate.

Additional questions should be directed to the office of the president of the Transportation Division.

Charter meets with auxiliary approval

Members of the Auxiliary of the UTU met for their convention in Cleveland in July and voted to approve a new charter that changed its name to the SMART Transportation Division Auxiliary. Here, Auxiliary President Kathryn Seegmiller and TD President John Previsich pose for a photo after the charter received auxiliary members’ approval.

Sigler keeps up his activism

Continued from Page 10

Later in the letter, Sigler urged Fischer to support S. 2360 – the Safe Freight Act requiring two-person crews on trains, but said he didn’t hold out much hope that she would.

Sigler wrote, “Rail workers in North Platte extend an open invitation for Fischer to come and spend some time with rail workers, their families and community leaders concerning rail safety issues.”

It’s your last chance to turn photos in for 2019 calendar!

SMART Transportation Division is seeking quality railroad, bus and airline photos taken by members for placement in the annual SMART TD Alumni Association calendar and for other uses. High-resolution digital photographs should be emailed to news@smart-union.org.

Printed photographs should be mailed to SMART TD News, 24950 Country Club Blvd., Suite 340, North Olmsted, OH 44070. To be considered for the 2019 calendar, photos must be received by Oct. 10.

Be sure to include the photographer’s name and local number, the name(s) of the person(s) featured in the photograph (left to right) and any other pertinent information, such as the date and location where the photograph was taken.

If your photo is chosen for inclusion in the calendar, you will receive some copies for your own personal use.

Due to federal or state regulations, or company restrictions on employees’ use of personal electronic devices, including cameras, on company property or while on duty, all members are advised not to take photos while on duty and to only take photos from a clear point of safety and in compliance with all applicable company rules.

All photographs submitted become property of SMART Transportation Division.

The Final Call Continued

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Local Name</th>
<th>City/State</th>
<th>Local Name</th>
<th>City/State</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1470 Buettner, Max R.</td>
<td>Sarasota, Fla.</td>
<td>1732 Miller, Donald Q.</td>
<td>Watsonville, Calif.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1473 Collins, James M.</td>
<td>Ashland, Mass.</td>
<td>1813 Harwell, Timothy M.</td>
<td>Yacapa, Calif.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1518 Harper, Curtis A.</td>
<td>Terre Haute, Ind.</td>
<td>1814 Birch, Ronald</td>
<td>Waterloo, S.C.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1524 Heusel, Harold A.</td>
<td>Canon City, Colo.</td>
<td>1910 Nolfick, Howard C.</td>
<td>Duluth, Ga.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1525 Dye, Raymond H.</td>
<td>Paducah, Ky.</td>
<td>1928 Tongret, Irvin S.</td>
<td>Uhrichsville, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1529 Willet, Francis J.</td>
<td>Bradner, Ohio</td>
<td>1948 Harmeczy, John D.</td>
<td>New Waterford, Ohio</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1548 Westerfield, Edward R., Indiansapolis, Ind.</td>
<td>1949 Neron, Armand G.</td>
<td>Akron, Ohio</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1570 Figgeroa, Barry A.</td>
<td>Aracatcolo, Calif.</td>
<td>1957 Simmons, Marsene E.</td>
<td>Sibbee, Texas</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1571 Bridges, Melvin B.</td>
<td>El Paso, Texas</td>
<td>1973 Hendrix, Dana C.</td>
<td>Johnson City, Tenn.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The reason we collect information about you is to better serve your needs. Having accurate information permits us to provide you with an appropriate range of insurance products. The non-public personal information that we collect about you varies according to the products, services or benefits you request, and may include:

• Information we receive from you on applications or other forms, such as name, address, social security number, assets and income;
• Information about your transactions with us, our affiliates or others, such as name, address, social security number, policy coverage, premiums and payment history;
• Information we receive from consumer reporting agencies such as a credit history.

We may share the above non-public personal information we have about you with the SMART Transportation Division. Sharing this information assists us in:

• Processing the payment of your insurance premium;
• Maintaining your insurance policies in force;
•Providing you with better customer service.

We may share the above non-public personal information we have about you with persons or companies that perform services on our behalf and to other financial institutions with which we may have joint marketing agreements. We may share this non-public personal information with affiliated or non-affiliated third parties as permitted by law. We do not disclose personal medical information about you except as permitted by law or as you may authorize. We restrict access to non-public personal information about you to those employees who need to know that information in order to provide products or services to you. We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect your non-public personal information. This privacy policy applies even if you no longer have any policies or a relationship with us.
Photo of the month

SMART Transportation Division is always looking for good photos and your picture can be featured on this page as a Photo of the Month. SMART TD seeks photographs or digital images of work-related scenes, such as rail-road, bus or mass transit operations, new equipment photos, scenic shots, activities of your local or photos of your brothers and sisters keeping America rolling.

Printed photographs should be mailed to SMART TD, 24950 Country Club Blvd., Suite 340, North Olmsted, OH 44070-5333.

High-resolution digital photographs should be in JPEG format and emailed to news_td@smart-union.org. We prefer horizontal photos.

With each photograph, please include your name and SMART local number, the names of the persons in the photo (left to right), where the photo was taken, and other pertinent information.

All photographs submitted become property of SMART.

Remember to review your employer’s policies regarding use of cameras on the property or during work hours.

BNSF conductor and Local 465 (Gillette, Wyo.) Vice Local Chairperson Jeffrey Coffey snapped this BNSF train led by locomotive 5954 as it traveled along the Orin Subdivision.

Gathering together for Labor Day

Minnesota

Union members convene at the AFL-CIO Pavilion at the Minnesota State Fair in Falcon Heights on Labor Day, including, at left, Minnesota AFL-CIO President Bill McCarthy, SMART TD Minnesota State Legislative Director Phillip Quay and members of the NLC postal workers, Minnesota Nurses Association, SMART Local 10 and UFCW Local 1189 members. Quay also was quoted by KARE-TV Channel 11 for a feature story on the state of labor.

SMART Transportation Division members gather at the SMART Union Hall in Omaha for the annual Labor Day Eve feed. Participants in the following day’s parade got a chance to fuel up and pick up T-shirts as well as listen to various speakers, Nebraska State Legislative Bob Borgeson said.

Illinois

SMART TD Locals 195 and 445 participate in the Galesburg, Ill., Labor Day parade.

SMART TD Locals 528 and 577’s Labor Day Unity Picnic and food drive took place Sept. 1 and hosted U.S. Rep. Raja Krishnamoorthi of Illinois’ 8th District. From left are Local 528 member Joe Amore, Krishnamoorthi, Illinois State Legislative Director Bob Guy and Local 528 Legislative Representative Josh Hendrickson.